

ABSTRACT

A rigid laminated material to be used primarily in kitchen and bathroom countertops and back splashes. The invention comprises a two-sided, heat deformable laminate, such as acrylic, that has raised peripheral portions on its reverse side. Reinforcing material such as liquid resin can be poured into the reverse side to self-bond with the laminate and is contained by the raised edges and allowed to harden.

00934573-001
104780-04780